

Manda Bay is a small boutique resort, on the northern tip of Manda Island

Manda Bay resort is near Lamu on the northern tip of Manda Island, part of the Lamu-Kiwayu archipelago on the north coast of Kenya.

The calm waters in the creek are ideal for a variety of water sports and further out in the bay, a good breeze makes for great windsurfing or sailing.

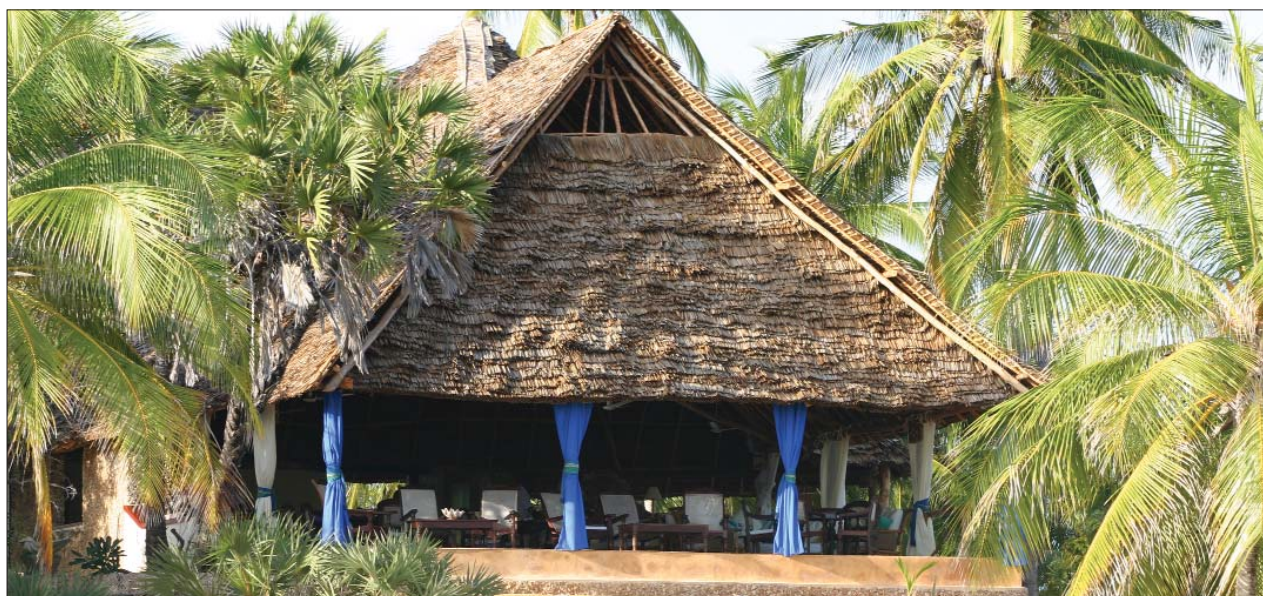

At Manda Bay one can be as active or as inactive as the mood dictates. The quiet seclusion is perfect for total relaxation, while you relish the excellent cuisine, and pamper yourself with luxurious massages.

Twelve spacious cottages line the beach overlooking the calm waters of the bay. Formerly known as the Blue Safari Club, Manda Bay has been renovated and reopened under new management.

Surrounded by magnificent coral gardens, empty beaches and indigenous woodland, the resort is a glorious destination for both active and leisurely holidays.

Manda Bay has its own airfield, which is a considerable convenience and time saver for private charters, and there are three scheduled flights daily to Lamu from Nairobi.
